JOY OF GIVING

The Department of English of Dnyanprassarak Mandal's College and Research Centre, Assagao-Goa organised a visit to the old-age home-Isha Prema Niketan in Assagao. The visit was an opportunity to spread the message of 'Joy of giving' under its DAAN UTSAV. The students along with the teachers spent time with the aged people and entertained them with a variety programme. The students sang songs, danced and interacted with the aged people; even the teachers performed. The students also encouraged the old people to sing a few songs, to which some readily complied. They also shared their stories and recounted their life experiences, which moistened the eyes of many. The liveliness of the youth and their concern for them touched their hearts. The programme added a sparkle in their eyes and smile on their faces, their gratefulness was apparent as they thanked the organizers.

At the end, the amenities obtained through the amount generated by collection was handed over to the In-charge.

JOY OF GIVING AT DMC

D.M's College believes not only in imparting Knowledge but also proactively contributing towards social transformation. Keeping this in mind, D.M's College celebrated the DAAN UTSAV WEEK from 2nd -8th October 2016. As Mother Teresa has rightly said, "It's not how much we give but how much love we put into the giving", the teaching, non-teaching staff and the students displayed their generosity and outpouring of love by their enthusiastic participation.

The amount generated through the donations was utilised in buying consumable food products like Rice, wheat flour, various varieties of dal, white peas, sugar and jaggery which was later handed over to the organizers of DAAN UTSAV.

The organization of the programme would not have been possible without the initiative of faculty members of the College, Ms. M.Shanthi and Mr.Somnath Morajkar who provided the necessary help and motivation to conduct the whole event. M.Shanthi (Head, Department of English, Co-ordinator) speaking on the concluding day of the event said, "It gave me immense mental satisfaction when I handed over the food products to the organizers at YMCA.I felt as if I was in paradise as I knew that it would reach at least a few old age homes in Goa".

The students and the faculty opined that it was a unique experience, and expressed their views and sentiments:

Pragati Fadte (S.Y.B.A) I should give more, perhaps next time.

Monali Kandolkar (S.Y.B.A) I wanted to share whatever I could, even if it is little.

Bella Mascarenhas (F.Y.B.A) I felt good to give to those who needed it.

Subheksha Naik (F.Y.B.A) I like to help people, especially those who are in need.

Hasfina Shaikh (T.Y.B.A) I felt like helping but could not give more. I felt uneasy about it but felt happy in sharing what I had.

Samantha D'souza (S.Y.B.Com) I usually visit old age homes, but this was another experience of giving and sharing for a special purpose.

Subhash Kamalkar (Faculty, Dept. of English) The joy of giving is a feeling which cannot be expressed in words.

Prashant Mandrekar (Non-teaching staff) we should share from our earnings or savings by way of 'daan' to those who don't have their own families and are neglected by their families.
